While driving his auto on South Main street at 7:30 last evening, Dr. E. G. Ghidella had a narrow escape from a serious collision with a team, opposite the fire station. The doctor was driving slowly on the right hand side of the street and he noticed a team coming towards him several rods away. He turned his head to look back and when he turned around he was startled to see the horse almost upon him. He stopped his machine as quickly as possible, but the front of the machine struck one of the wheels of the carriage and broke off the fusing pipe beneath the hood of the car. Instantly the steam and water burst out from the boiler, enveloping the team in a dense cloud. A crowd of people quickly gathered about and the man in the team immediately drove off without making any explanation for attempting to run down the auto. Dr. Ghidella pushed his machine around into Page Brothers' yard and soon had a new fusing plug in. The car was not otherwise damaged.
